open spaces for all New Yorkers
in all neighborhoods.

Great Parks Make a Great City

GET INVOLVED!

You can plant bulbs in the fall, take photos of blooming daffodils each spring, and donate your time to the Bulb Brigade, NY4P's volunteer corps.

SPONSORSHIP

Generous sponsors enable us to give away hundreds of thousands of free bulbs and hold events in every borough. For further details on sponsorship opportunities, contact Director of Development Michelle Velez, mvelez@ny4p.org.

Additional support is provided by the Greenacre Foundation and Lynden B. Miller. A special thanks to our School Planting Sponsor, Con Edison, helping us support the next generation of park stewards.

FIND THE DAFFODIL PROJECT

The Daffodil Project

was founded in 2001 as a living memorial to commemorate the lives lost on September 11th. More than one million daffodils were planted in New York City during the Project's first year, in one of the biggest volunteer efforts in the city's history. As one of the first flowers to bloom each spring, daffodils symbolize the resiliency and strength of our city.

Over the past 18 years, the Daffodil Project has flourished, bringing over seven million and a half daffodils into the city's parks, playgrounds, schools, streets, and community gardens. In partnership with NYC Parks and the New York City Housing Authority, the Project has helped to increase stewardship in the city's underserved open spaces. The result: a beautification effort that spans all five boroughs.

About the Daffodil Project

FALL: BULB DISTRIBUTIONS AND PLANTINGS

Each September and October, NY4P distributes hundreds of thousands of daffodil bulbs throughout the city. The bulbs are free to everyone who will plant them in a public space, such as a park, tree pit, garden, schoolyard, or NYCHA development. To find out how to get bulbs, visit our website: www.ny4p.org/the-daffodil-project.

SPRING: BLOOM TIME!

When the daffodils bloom in the spring, NY4P loves to see photos from all five boroughs. All New Yorkers are encouraged to share photos on social media using #daffodilproject.

NY4P hosts an annual Daffodil Breakfast to celebrate the volunteers who work tirelessly to improve their communities and make the Daffodil Project a success.

2019 BLOOMS

During the fall of 2018, NY4P distributed over 500,000 bulbs throughout New York City. Nearly 1,200 civic groups, schools, community gardeners, and individuals planted bulbs obtained through the Project.

NY4P invites you to explore the city this spring: visit your local park, community garden, playground, or housing development and see where the bulbs are in bloom.
